About Hyoseong Nuna Kim, M.D.

Dr. Kim is a board-certified pediatrician with more than 20 years' experience. She is the Deputy Chief Medical Officer at the Charles B. Wang Community Health Center.

She provides care to patients up to 21 years of age, including regular checkups and immunizations. Dr. Kim also provides health education, referrals, and care coordination with specialists.

Dr. Kim is also a member of the adjunct clinical faculty at the Sophie Davis School of Biomedical Education. Dr. Kim is committed to providing high-quality healthcare to underserved communities. After completing her training in Pediatrics at Mount Sinai Medical Center in New York City in 2001, she worked for the Indian Health Service in the Navajo Nation for two years before coming back home to NYC to join the Health Center.

In her free time, she enjoys going to plays, musicals, and live music events, as well as traveling. She also enjoys playing board games with her children.
